

No. 1 marine & offshore restoration partner worldwide

Operating within the marine & offshore industry requires specialist knowledge, skills and expertise. When disaster strikes these requirements become even more important to ensure a successful and effective recovery. Marine risks can be wide ranging and often pose unique challenges for any recovery project. Having the right recovery partner by your side is therefore essential.

For almost 35 years BELFOR has managed all types of losses, onshore and offshore in the marine industry. Our team of industry experts and specialists have developed a strong reputation for recovery services after marine flooding, fire, salvage, preservation, technical re-conditioning and condition based maintenance. Our clients include ship owners, insurers, surveyors, salvage companies, shipyards, manufacturers and suppliers all of which have chosen BELFOR as their restoration partner based on expertise, quality and reliability.

Make BELFOR your marine restoration partner of choice and sail in calm waters when disaster strikes.
